What is DODO?

A decentralized trading mechanism called Dodo seeks to provide the best offers to investors. It does this by forgoing computerized market maker technologies and employing its own unique PMM (proactive market maker).

This approach uses predictions to provide precise market values for commodities while simulating human trade. According to the Dodo procedure, this approach “ensures better pricing, improved fund usage, lower price deterioration, single investment risk, and loss reduction.”

The DeFi network wants to attract both emerging cryptocurrencies and more well-established cryptocurrencies. With the help of its IDO (Initial DODO Offering), it offers enterprises free registration. Issuers need only transfer the coins to be eligible.
