What is GMX Crypto?

A decentralized exchange on Arbitrum blockchain with a focus on perpetual settlement is called GMX. GMX also offers spot trade settlement, though. So GMX is a perpetual and decentralized spot cryptocurrency exchange.

Let's first define PERPETUAL and SPOT Settlement before we continue to discuss GMX.

Instantaneous purchase or sale settlement is referred to as SPOT trading. Assume a trader wishes to sell cryptocurrency for A dollars. There could not, however, be a comparable cost.

However, the deal is resolved via spot settlement from the liquidity pool.

A perpetual settlement occurs when an item is purchased or sold at a specified price without regard to time limits.

The GMX exchange's utility and governance token is called GMX. Stakeholders on the GMX exchange can get 30% of the platform-wide fees by using the GMX token. The GMX token is used as the governance token on the GMX platform.
