What is Decentraland?

Decentraland is a metaverse platform built on the Ethereum blockchain. The project was established by the Decentraland Foundation back in 2015, and it is the first one in the history of the metaverse to host a fashion show and a digital nuptials. The team held an ICO in 2017 and successfully raised about 90,000 ETH (which was about $26 million at that time). However, the virtual reality platform was opened to the public just in 2020.

Decentraland users can buy and sell real-estate items while enjoying the game and interaction. It is like an online game. However, it focuses on social and economic interactions between users and not on the gameplay itself. Users communicate, attend lectures, open stores, and explore the world and new objects in it. Doesn't it remind you of anything? This is Minecraft of a decentralized world!

All land in Decentraland metaverse is divided into 90 thousand parcels called “Parcels.” The initial size of one Parcel was 10×10 meters of in-game space. In February 2019, the community conducted a vote. Right after, the size of each Parcel was increased to 16×16 meters. Each Parcel is an ERC-721 token — LAND.

Let’s talk about the Decentraland tokens. There are two types of in-game cryptocurrencies: MANA and LAND.

- MANA is an ERC-20 token used to buy virtual services or goods such as wearables and avatars within the Decentraland marketplace.
- LAND is a non-fungible ERC-721 token used to denote the right to own a specific piece of land in the game; in other words, it’s a proof of ownership. The MANA tokens must be burned in order to obtain LAND tokens.

Besides Parcels, there are Roads and Plazas in the world of Decentraland metaverse. Users cannot buy it because only developers can create objects on them. Roads are needed for users to navigate the virtual world. The Plazas are points of attraction for users: public parks and information zones. The closer the land is to the Roads and Plazas, the more expensive it is. The area around Central Plaza is the most expensive, just like the Central Park property in New York.

The world of Decentraland has thematic zones called “Districts.” For example, there are shops on Fashion Street and lecture halls in Decentraland University. Each area is owned and managed by a local community. Unfortunately, the land in such areas is no longer available for purchase. Let’s imagine that you’ve got land (lucky)! How can you dispose of your purchase?

- Resell. As the game grows in popularity, the price of land rises. So, you become a conditional landlord who can benefit from it.
- Lease out the land. You will be able to receive passive income from the acquired land.
- Place an advertisement. You can build any objects on their land, and even place advertisements. So, you can hang up a banner of your company or open a showroom.
- Open an NFT store. Very trendy, right? Decentraland is NFT-compliant with the ERC-721 standard. For example, digital artists can open a gallery with NFT paintings.

MANA Price History

First let's take a quick look at the MANA price history. While past performance should never be taken as an indicator of future results, knowing what the crypto has done in the past can give us some much-needed context when it comes to either making or interpreting a MANA crypto price prediction.

MANA first came onto the open market in the autumn of 2017, when it was worth about 0.024. On 21 September of that year, it was trading below $0.02, and for most of the next three years or so it stayed between $0.01 and about $0.10. Although it reached an all-time low of $0.007883 on 13 October 2017, it soon recovered and closed 2020 at $0.07825.

2021 was a bullish time for crypto and, with the market booming, Decentraland responded well, reaching periodic highs above the $1.50 level in May. After that, the market cooled for the following months before MANA saw stratospheric rise at the end of October and closed the month at $2.89. November 2021 was another productive month for Decentraland, with it reaching an all-time high of $5.90 on 25 November, but in December the market slumped and MANA ended the year at $3.27, a year-on-year rise of more than 4,000%.

While 2021 was a positive year for crypto in general and MANA in particular, 2022 was a year which saw disaster strike both MANA and the sector as a whole. Although the token reached a high of $3.48 on 8 February, things have gone downhill since then. The depegging of Terra UST stablecoin and the collapse of the associated LUNA caused a market crash which saw MANA drop to $0.6307 on 12 May. Things weren't getting better with continuous crypto bankruptcy news confirming the bear market. Then in November, the collapse of the FTX (FTT) exchange caused yet another crypto crash, and MANA kept falling to close 2022 at around $0.29, down more than 90% over the course of the year.

So far, 2023 has looked a bit better for both MANA and the wider crypto market. The coin rebound to $0.8393 in early February, its highest price in about six months.

MANA Price Prediction $100

It seems that investors everywhere are searching for "MANA price prediction $100." No one knows the future but tons of people are talking about Decentraland MANA. To reach $100, MANA will have to rise 291x, which translates to a market cap of 183 billion. While this is not impossible in the crypto industry and many coins have achieved this target, there are practical challenges and there has to be significant progress in MANA use cases to justify these levels.

In today's conditions, we believe that $100 is a theoretical possibility for MANA but the odds of it becoming real are extremely low if not impossible.

But that doesn't mean the coin doesn't have potential. Many experts believe that MANA could have a bright future ahead of it.

Wallet Investor considers MANA to be a good long-term investment. The one-year potential is about +15%, and that's quite stable. In five years, MANA's price can double up to $10. Depending on the GameFi popularity, the quotes can even triple. If this sector of the crypto world is safe and sound by the end of 2026, then investing in MANA may pay off.

Decentraland MANA Price Prediction: Is MANA a Good Investment?

With a well-thought roadmap and vision, Decentraland is an excellent and highly sought-after ecosystem. MANA will undoubtedly reach new heights if it is capable of capturing a substantial portion of the Metaverse's value creation.

Going forward, our MANA price prediction model shows that the crypto could anticipate massive growth and make great profits in the future, with the growing of metaverse and NFTs.

However, it is important to note that we are betting on the future of virtual reality and the metaverse is still uncertain (atleast in 2023), and the success of Decentraland will depend on its ability to grow its user base, attract developers, and build its platform.

Our advise is to have a very small amount of MANA in your portfolio. If Metaverse becomes a reality and it gets adoption, we might see MANA skyrocket, and now that the price is down, it is a wise investment to make.

Please know the figures are generated using our price prediction tool and in that matter, not a guarantee, that the actual price action will follow what we mentioned. Forecasts are not immune to changing circumstances and will be updated with new developments. Always do your own research and evaluate all necessary factors before making any investment.
