Over the past two weeks, the price of Mask cryptocurrency has defied logic. The price of the cryptocurrency reached a new all-time high of $5.26, a level not seen since April 6 of this year. Over 400% higher than its yearly low. Now worth over $143 million, its stock price has skyrocketed. So, where does the Mask Network go from here?

Mask Network, Explained

The goal of the blockchain-based Mask Network is to shake up the web3 industry even further. Multiple companies, including Digital Currency Group, Binance, Animoca Brands, and Binance, have contributed to the network's success. It enables users to access Web2 applications by means of Web3 systems.

The platform comes with a browser add-on that enhances the user experience on the web. This means that the software can be used for instant data encryption, real-time cryptocurrency price monitoring, NFT avatar verification, and instantaneous shopping at a variety of prominent websites.

There are two key drivers behind the recent significant increase in the price of Mask Network. As a first point, the popularity of social media platforms has increased since Twitter's purchase. Second, FTX, one of the world's largest exchanges, has just started trading the coin. Spot and perpetual futures listings expand the accessibility of the coin to buyers from all around the world.

It broke through the first, second, and third pivot point resistance levels throughout this time frame.
