What is Mask Network (MASK) ?

As a free and open-source web 3.0 blockchain technology, Mask Network enables social media users like Twitter and Facebook to communicate securely via private conversations. It bridges the gap between Web 2.0 and Web 3.0. Users can continue using the social media platforms they're already familiar with while having access to secure, decentralized social messaging, payment networks, file storage, and file sharing.

It was simple for users to experience the magic of the Web 3.0 world. Mask Network is deeply invested in the ownership model of business. Mask Network is based on the idea that everyone should have control over their own creations, data, attention, and online environments.

And it's not simply that blockchain initiatives can conduct Initial Twitter Offerings (ITOs) to garner financial backing. It seems to me that the present price increase is due to the widespread recognition that this is a fantastic use case. The ITO mask network is compatible with Ethereum, Polygon, BSC, and Arbitrum (as of now).

With the use of Mask tokens, you may have your NFTs show up on your social profile and along with a VERIFIED badge. Last but not least, users will be able to see the prices of various coins using integrated widgets offered by Uniswap, Ox, SushiSwap, and dHedge.
