Wrapped Luna Classic Explained

Wrapped Luna Classic is a wrapped token. Actually, it is an ERC-20 token on the Ethereum blockchain network tracking the value of the Luna Classic (LUNC) coin, which is built on the Terra Classic chain.

A Brief Glance at Wrapped Tokens

Wrapped tokens are digital assets pegged to the value of another asset.

For example, Wrapped Bitcoin (WBTC) is a token that is backed by Bitcoin's value. When you hold WBTC, you are essentially holding a claim on the underlying Bitcoin, and this claim for the underlying asset can be redeemed at any time.

Wrapped tokens are popular because they offer the benefits of both crypto assets and traditional assets — for example, wrapped tokens can be traded on exchanges just like any other crypto asset. Nevertheless, since they are backed by underlying assets, they also have the stability of traditional assets. Wrapped tokens offer more ways to build bridges between two different blockchains. This makes wrapped tokens an attractive option for investors who want the best of both worlds.
