On October 12, 2020, the digital asset management firm Grayscale Investment was approved by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) to become SEC reporting company. Grayscale Ethereum Trust (ETHE) become the second crypto trust to obtain the status of a declared company in the SEC following Grayscale Bitcoin Trust (GBTC).

As of the latest public data on October 21, 2020, Grayscale announced the firm has added 7 billion US dollars in assets under management (AUM), of which Bitcoin Trust (GBTC) and Ethereum Trust (ETHE) are respectively 5.8 billion US dollars and 9 Billion US dollars, accounting for more than 95% of the share.

A Reddit's user named "Joe-M-4" has done an investment experiment for three consecutive years, using a principal of $1,000 to invest in the top ten cryptocurrencies on the first day of the year. At the end of the first year, the value of the invested cryptocurrencies has shrunk by nearly 85%; In the second year, the rate of return exceeded 66%; this year he continued to repeat the experiment, and data from October showed that he earned 60% this year. According to his investment results, the cryptocurrencies that brought him the greatest return are ETH (210%) and BTC (90%).

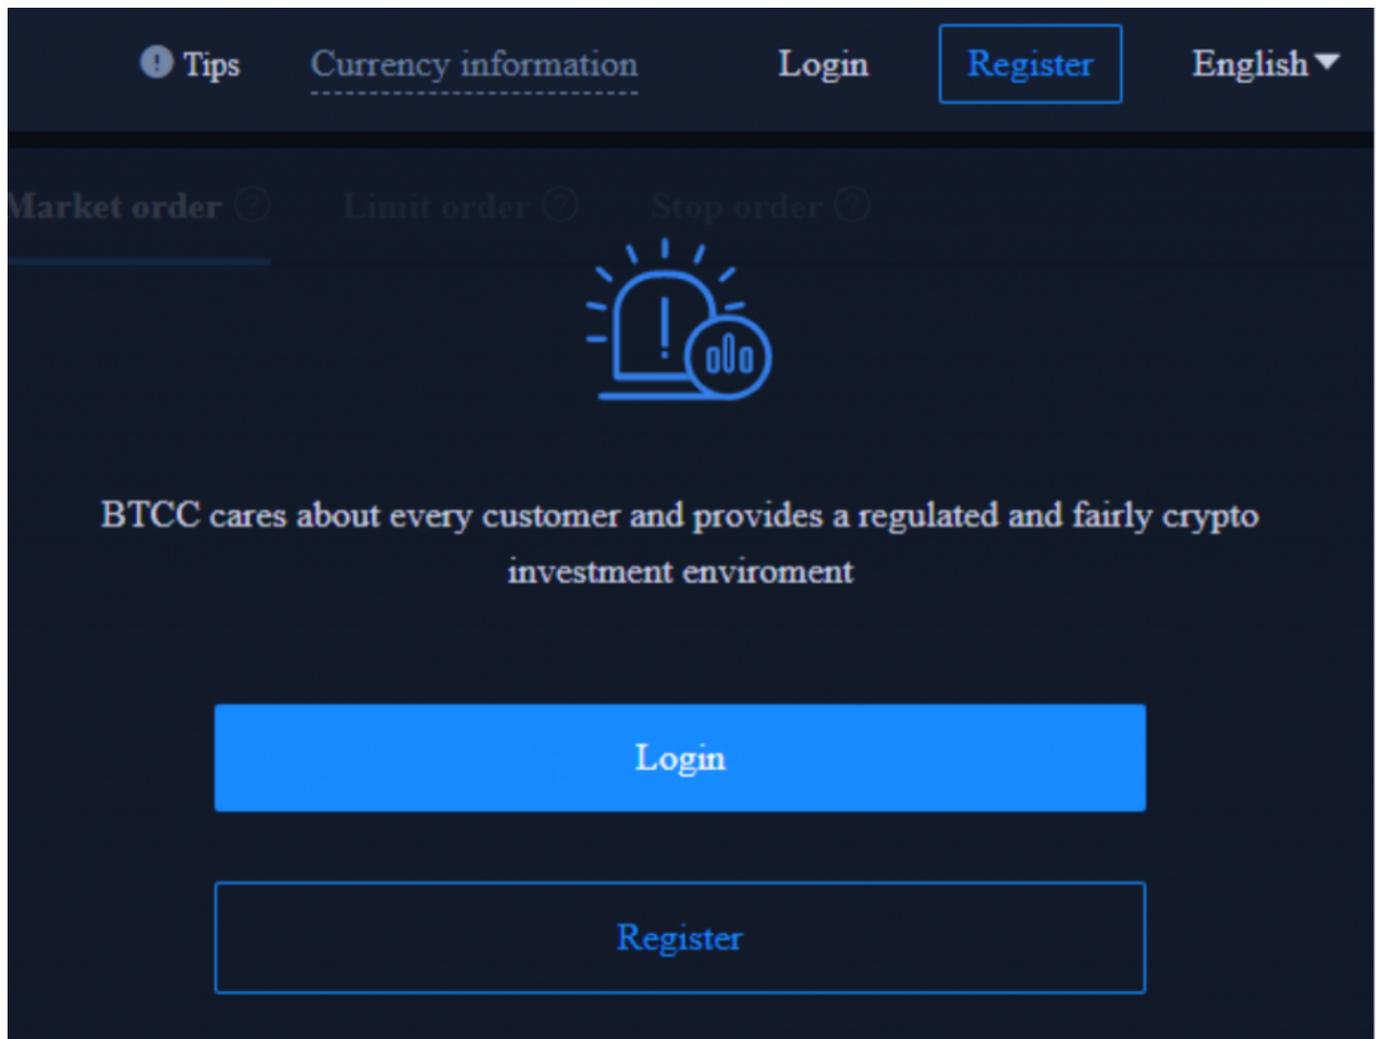

From the perspective of the overall blockchain development trend, ETH 2.0 turned out to be the most anticipated event in the industry, and the recent price spike of ETH has confirmed this view.
